Developer Offers Cooperation To Solve Problems

May Share Cost Of Improving Municipal Utilities On Elm St.

"There's no problem that can't be solved", a member of the Realty Construction company told the planning board Monday night.

Alfred Sartorelli, a Boston attorney and spokesman for the firm, appeared before a planning board meeting to discuss his firm's plans for housing developments off Westwind rd. and in the Flying Feather farm area.

Many other town officials attended the meeting, with considerable interest in the plans for the area which was recently closed to sub-divisions due to utility problems.

Atty. Sartorelli told the meeting that his firm believes conferences with town officials can settle all the major problems that now prevent development of the area — including water, drainage and sewer problems.

Priscilla Abbot Wouldn't Wash Face After Gen. Washington Bussed It

By KAY NOYES

This lovely old house on Elm st., known as the Abbot-Locke house, was presumably built in the late 1680's and being near the old stage road, attracted many a weary traveler. In 1776, Deacon Abbot petitioned the General Court to be allowed to keep an inn, as the constant feeding and lodging of travelers was putting quite a dent in his budget.

Wouldn't Wash Face
It was in this very house that President Washington created perhaps the first face-washing strike. The story goes that in 1789, shortly after his inauguration, Washington stopped at the Abbot tavern for breakfast. The new president's riding gloves were well worn from his journey and desperately in need of a woman's mending skill. Young Priscilla Abbot, the innkeeper's daughter, recognizing his plight, graciously offered to repair them. In appreciation of her gesture, Washington kissed the young lady on the cheek, and in order to retain the memory of his kiss she refrained from washing her face for several days.

Another distinguished patron at the Inn was Samuel Osgood, a resident of the No. Parish and a close friend of Gen. Washington, who gained an exalted rank in the United States government, when he was appointed the country's first postmaster general.

Became Postoffice

Until 1795, when the Abbot tavern became Andover's first postoffice and Deacon Isaac Abbot the first postmaster, the mail had been delivered by Samuel Bean, a post rider whose route went from Boston to Londonderry. In 1780, he advertised that he would deliver weekly papers for a period of three months for 16 dollars cash or half a bushel of rye or three pecks of Indian corn. This offer was considered to be very reasonable.

The large colonial farmhouse with its ballroom, shuttered window and unusual paneling ceased to serve as the postoffice in 1825. Although no records can be found of the date of transfer, it could have been around this time that Samuel Locke became the new owner.

New Postmaster

Dr. Nathaniel Swift, whose house is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Hill on Central st., became Andover's second postmaster and for many years a front room of his house served as the local post office.

In the years to come, the postoffice changed its location several times. On October 14, 1932, under postmaster Frederick Cheever, the present $115,000 postoffice building was dedicated at a colorful ceremony with Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers making the dedication address.

The post office has undergone a number of changes since 1795, but strangely enough the first free mail delivery in Andover began only 58 years ago this month. Joseph Blunt, James Feeney and John Burt were the first carriers and served as a sharp contrast to the present carrier force of 14 men. George Chandler was the first rural free delivery carrier and in 1912, the first parcel post system was set up in Andover.

In 1901, when the total stamp sales was $15,776 the hope was that this community might some day reach the $75,000 mark and today under Stephen A. Boland, the 19th postmaster, stamp sales for the year of 1954 reached a high of $144,303. Today, in one month, the total sales are more than double that of the entire year of 1901.

The present marble floored brick structure is a far cry from the rambling white farmhouse with its broad floor boards and graceful stairway which served as the first postoffice.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Young and their children, Joshua and Timothy, are the present occupants of the stately old house. Mrs. Young is the great granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Locke, the original Locke occupants, whose descendants have occupied the house ever since.

Hardys Celebrate 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Hardy, 46½ High st., celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Nov. 3.

Two daughters, Mrs. Russell MacLeish and Mrs. William Mosher, were hostesses to the couple at a dinner party at Mrs. MacLeish's home on Shawsheen rd.

A gift was presented from the family and a special letter from a son, Airman first class F. Douglas Hardy, was read. He is stationed at Walters Air Force base in Texas.

Centerpiece of the table was a three-tiered wedding cake with white icing and silver scrolls. The couple also received many cards and messages of good wishes from relatives and friends.

The Acme Concrete has applied for permission to build a concrete storage plant to mix concrete on its property on Fletcher st.

The request will be before the board of appeals Monday at 8 in town hall.

Later, the selectmen of town counsel, ruled right to operate a plant on Fletcher st. must come before the appeals board. The men suspended the building at that time but Building or Ralph Coleman did not sue. Thus, the exterior construction was complete some interior work to be done before the firm would be able to operate from the location.

The company's request hearing before the appeals board was received Monday afternoon. After hearing residents of the concrete firm interested citizens, will consider merits of the case and reach a decision. It was explained that one negative will serve to disapprove the request, as state law requires appeals board to reach a decision before any application before it.

Vale Parents Plan To Attend Special Meeting

Concrete Firm Asks Permission To Do Business

The Acme Concrete company has applied for permission to operate a concrete storage plant and to mix concrete on its property on Fletcher st.

The request will be heard by the board of appeals Monday night at 8 in town hall.

The firm owns the old coal yards on Fletcher st. and has built a storage plant there. Residents of the area, however, have objected to the operation in terms of its possible nuisance value and because heavy trucks will be using Fletcher st.

The selectmen, after hearing these complaints some time ago, suspended the firm's building permit for five days, during which time they looked over the site and also went to Stoneham to visit the home site of the company.

Later, the selectmen, on advice of town counsel, ruled that the right to operate a plant on Fletcher st. must come before the three-man appeals board. The selectmen suspended the building permit at that time but Building Inspector Ralph Coleman did not follow suit. Thus, the exterior plant construction was completed, leaving some interior work to be done before the firm would be ready to operate from the location.

The company's request for a hearing before the appeals board was received Monday at the town hall. After hearing residents, members of the concrete firm and other interested citizens, the board will consider merits of the case and reach a decision. It has been explained that one negative vote will serve to disapprove the request, as state law requires the appeals board to reach a unanimous decision before approving any application before it.

The house-to-house canvass raised $2902.65, he said. It broke down into $1189.50 from precinct one, $276.50 from precinct two, $380.85 from precinct three, $375 from precinct four, $209.80 from precinct five and $471 from precinct six. PERSONAL

Burton Batcheller of Center st. returned home from a week's hunting trip to Northern, N.H. on Sunday.

Five articles totalling $94,500 will be acted on at the special town meeting Nov. 21 at 8 p.m. in the Memorial auditorium.

In addition to the three school articles, the BPW has inserted a request for $5000 for an electric pump and motor to replace one that burned out.

Fred W. Doyle seeks another $5000 to put a water main on Gleason st.

School Projects

The school projects — West, Shawsheen and Ballardvale — will cost $84,500 if approved by the voters.

The school committee asks for $7500 to have preliminary plans drawn for a new school in Ballardvale. The West school addition will cost $45,000 more than the $175,000 voted last spring and the Shawsheen addition is estimated at $32,000 over its original estimate of $85,000.

Get Out The Voters

Ballardvale residents, particularly members of the PTA of the Bradlee school, are already planning means of assuring a quorum at the session. With interest riding high in a new school for the area, plans call for ringing the church bell at 7:15 that night to warn all voters that it is time to go to town meeting.

Baby-sitting service and transportation will also be provided for folks in the Vale.

Members of the PTA pointed out at a recent meeting that all residents of South Andover will benefit from the new school as children from that area will go to it as will those living right in the Vale.

Residents of other sections of town also have been making plans to attend the meeting.

Officials feel that a quorum will be available, with school problems creating sufficient interest to bring the voters out. They recall that a special town meeting called to discuss drainage problems failed of a quorum while the one summoned for consideration of the new high school problem attracted considerably more than the needed 350 men and women.

Other Articles

The water main article was inserted in the warrant by Mr. Doyle on suggestion of the board of public works. He appeared before that board asking that some means be found to get water on Gleason st. where houses are being built. The board, telling Mr. Doyle that there is currently no money in the water-main budget, suggested that the special town meeting should be asked to appropriate the funds.

Mr. Doyle had offered to pay for some or all of the work if he could be assured that the town would reimburse him later. He was informed that the practice was discontinued some time ago.

The electric pump and motor are used in the pumping station at Haggett's pond. The motor has burned out, according to Engineer Ralph Preble, who heads the department. He explained that the present pump and motor would be used for whatever trade-in value they possess if the town appropriates the money for new ones.

POTVIN - WEIR

Miss Eleanor Weir, daughter of Mrs. Lena Weir, 12 Everett st., Lawrence, became the bride of Raymond G. Potvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Potvin, 35 Webster st., at a 1:30 o'clock ceremony Oct. 30, in St. Patrick's church, Lawrence. The Rev. Francis X. Cottrell officiated.

Given in marriage by her brother, Elias Weir, the bride wore a gown of lace over satin styled with fitted bodice of tulle trimmed lace and a bouffant skirt ending in a cathedral length train. Her double-tiered veil of French illusion fell from a crown of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade of white roses centered with pink roses.

The bridal attendants included Mrs. Barbara Koslowski as matron of honor for her sister, Miss Rosemary Lynch and Mrs. Eileen Bourque as bridesmaids. All wore waltz length gowns in ballet blue made on empire lines and wore wreaths of pink and blue carnations and carried cascades of the same flowers.

Miss Kathleen Weir, niece of the bride, as flower girl, wore pink and blue nylon and carried a basket of pink and blue carnations.

Paul Potvin served as best man for his brother and the ushers were Arthur Potvin and Joseph Bourque.

Following a wedding reception with many out of town guests attending, the couple left on a wedding trip to Washington, D.C.

The bride is a graduate of St. Patrick's high school and the Fisher school, Boston. The bridegroom, a graduate of Pynchard high school, has been recently discharged from the U. S. Marines.

Attend Hearing

A hearing of wide public interest will be held Nov. 15 in town hall.

At that time, the appeals board will hear the request of the Acme Cement company of Stoneham to do business in the town.

The firm asks the right to operate a cement storage plant on Fletcher st., where the coal yards are. They have bought the land and have erected the building.

However, town counsel ruled that the company must first receive permission to operate — thus the hearing.

Residents of the area don't want the plant there — they claim noise and dust plus a traffic hazard from big trucks used in the business.

Other residents of the town claim that harsh treatment of this business firm will react unfavorably when the town seeks other business establishments in its industrial expansion program.

It is said that the grapevine spreads the word fast — "Andover is unfriendly to business. There's too much red tape."

We don't want that type of reputation, for it is hoped that the town will grow industrially and in smaller business firms who find suitable locations in our town.

We suggest that the civic-minded residents of the community go to the hearing and express their ideas. It is certain that the residents of the area will be present to voice their opinions and thus it is only fair that others record their sentiments too.

It is hoped that the matter will work out peacefully — that the neighbors on Fletcher st. will make every effort to cooperate with the town officials and the cement company management.

We have pointed out before that the land near the coal yard, if sold to the company could be made into an exit so that the trucks would not need to travel on Fletcher st. The firm has also confirmed that some discussions have been going on to that end.

Thus, we hope, the matter can be worked out satisfactorily to all sides of the discussion.

But again, we urge that citizens attend the hearing Nov. 15 to urge the appeals board to allow the permit for the obvious good of the town.

ANNA GREELEY WILL RUN FOR TREASURER

MISS ANNA M. GREELEY

March, on the announced retirement of Thaxter Eaton.

Miss Greeley is a graduate of Suffolk university, Boston university and Portia Law school.

In announcing that she will be a candidate for the treasurer's post, she pointed to her experience in financial matters during the 16 years she has practiced law and as assistant treasurer of her father's firm, the James E. Greeley company.

Miss Greeley said she has specialized in financial work, including investments, during her law career. Currently, she has offices in Andover and Boston. She is a member of the Boston and Massachusetts Bar associations, Catholic daughters of America and serves as secretary of the Service-men's fund here.

Political Season Beginning Early

A busy, interesting political year, from now until next March, has been forecast by local experts.

They point to the unusual number of vacancies to be filled in the annual town election as a sign that the interest will be high throughout the next few months.

Several vacancies will be filled in March.

J. Everett Collins has often repeated his publically-announced intention to retire at the conclusion of his present term on the board of selectmen.

Thaxter Eaton, treasurer for many years, will retire.

Miss Anna M. Greeley, chairman of the school committee, has announced her candidacy for town treasurer, thus leaving her school board job open.

No Statement From White

There will be one opening on the board of public works now held by Sidney P. White. He has said that there will be no announcement of his plans until the first of the year.

Mrs. Dorothy Partridge, a member of the school board for several years, will issue a statement on Nov. 15 on her plans.

Dr. William V. Emmons, chairman of the board of health, has also promised a statement soon.

A Boston woman was killed

Monday evening when the car in which she was riding struck a street car on the Reading road, south of Phillips academy. Serious Elm St. Problem Seen By Engineer

A water deficiency so serious that only one fire hose could be furnished has been reported by Engineer Ralph I. in relation to the Westwind section of Elm st.

His report to the board of public works pointed out that the area is fed through a six-inch line having a capacity of less than 100 gallons a minute fire flow. His report on the sewer lines in the area indicated that present lines are not being replaced.

His report follows: "Sewer Capacity: Average in Westwind rd. and the main siphon is at present only 10 percent of capacity. Main siphon minimum capacity 1,105,000 gallons per day. Upper end where maximum flow is approximately 750,000 gallons per day. This siphon enters out fall sewer north of the green pumping station and is pumped. The capacity of the fall sewer is ten million gallons per day which is almost 10 percent flow.

Serious Elm St. Problem Seen By Engineer

A water deficiency so severe that only one fire hose stream could be furnished has been reported by Engineer Ralph Preble, in relation to the Westwind rd. section of Elm st.

His report to the board of public works pointed out that the area is fed through a six-inch main giving a capacity of less than 200 gallons a minute fire flow with a 40-pound residual pressure.

His report on the sewer conditions in the area indicated that present lines are not being used to capacity.

His report follows:

"Sewer Capacity: Average flow in Westwind rd. and the line to the main siphon is at present only 10 percent of capacity. The main siphon minimum capacity is 1,105,000 gallons per day at the upper end where maximum flow is approximately 750,000 gallons per day. This siphon enters the out fall sewer north of the Shawheen pumping station and is not pumped. The capacity of the out fall sewer is ten million gallons per day which is almost 10 times present flow.

"Problems are present in other sections which do not affect the above area such as Summer st. and vicinity. A 12" line was installed on Chestnut st. this year to help alleviate this condition. Another trouble spot is on North Main just north of Elm sq. where man hole covers have been lifted and sewage overflows into the st. This information is added as it affects the development of land south of an irregular line between the old race track on the Flying Feather Farm and the land now, or formerly, of Houlihan on Elm st.

"Water Distribution: The area of Elm st. near Westwind rd. is fed through a 6" main giving a capacity of less than 200 gallons per minute fire flow with a 20 lb. pressure residual. This is not even enough water to supply one fire hose.

"The Fire Insurance Rating Association requirements would be 1,500 gallons per minute. With lawn sprinklers running in the summer it would not take much more consumption to use all the water that is currently available.

Drainage Problems To Be Considered In Issuing Permits

The building inspector has been asked by the selectmen to hold up any building permit where drainage problems will be caused by the new construction.

Building Inspector Ralph Coleman said the order is permissible under a new state law, which says that such permits may be withheld by the inspector if he believes it wise.

Plumbing Inspector Alex Thompson attended the selectmen's meeting Monday night at which the matter was discussed with Mr. Coleman.

The building inspector pointed out that, in cases where work by the builder, such as filling, will solve the problem, he will not issue the permit until that work is done.

The action will not, he said, affect many new homes but is designed for cases where serious problems will arise for the town to solve, caused by the new buildings.

Report Of BPW Engineer Tells Water Story

Engineer Ralph Preble recently reported on water department problems to the board of public works. His report asked for improvements in the system and asked that additional water supply areas be located.

His report follows in full:

The intent of this report is to point out some of the problems and needs of the water department in some sort of orderly manner so that plans can be developed to insure that this municipal utility will keep pace with the growth of the town.

"The major phases of a water works operation involve records, distribution and supply.

Records: Under this heading I would include application books, job orders, disbursement ledgers, meter readers' books, water account work book, commitment books, street and reference and location books and maps.

"At the present time the re-vamping of the billing system is under way with the idea in mind that this change would be so set up as to be adaptable to a future machine billing system. By so doing, it is expected that the workload on the present office personnel will be such as to allow adequate records and a closer control of operational costs.

"To achieve an improvement in this, a recommendation is made to the board that the reading of meters and billing of same be done twice a year for each service and, furthermore, that the Town be divided into six districts and that one district be read and billed each month after the first of the January, 1956. The present method of reading all meters at one time necessitates using any personnel available to read meters at a cost of slightly over a $1000 labor cost. This method during our present reading resulted in approximately 10 percent mis-read, not read or questionable. This is nothing new, apparently as there are approximately 70 meters estimated for over five years and a similar number estimated for over four years, etc., either because of inability to gain entry or meters have stopped.

"This recommendation along with present meter installation policies should bring this problem into reasonable figures.

"The growth of the community would dictate consideration of machine operation in the near future for the billing operation.

Distribution: Some ten years ago the town was the recipient of a report on the water and sewage system prepared by Weston & Sampson, consulting engineers. The recommendations in that report were accomplished in part and it is my opinion that all recommendations should be gone over and a four year program set up to achieve the remainder. The only recommendation that I would disagree with pertains to supply which I'll deal with under the section "Supply".

"The Planning Board currently is concerned with supply problems in the easterly section of Elm st. and a report will be given to both the planning board and the board of public works on this within a week.

"The maintenance of the distribution system is falling behind what it should be. There is no check on operation of main gate valves, no leak detection work until the water spurts out of the ground, etc. This is a result of an inadequate number of personnel and equipment to do the job properly. Presently, we are employing two pick-ups and a compressor truck for transportation for both sewer and water work. Most water departments, with one-half the customers we have, employ an equal number of vehicles without sewage problems. Minimum equipment to prepare us for the 1956 work year would be to put the air compressor on a trailer mounting and purchase a 1½ ton dump with a low mounted body to replace the 20 year old Dodge compressor truck. Secondly, with only one piece of rubber tired backfill equipment available, we are forced to do either most of our backfill work by hand or hire outside equipment. The only practical solution is to provide a small hydraulic backhoe with front-end loader. Relative to personnel, I would like to see one truck and backhoe spending 60 percent of its time on new services accompanied by two men - a pick-up with two men available for helping on new service work at peak periods, but charged mainly to emergency calls on sewer and water services - and third pick-up would be provided with men and spend the majority of time on maintenance of hydrant gate valves, maintenance of distributing of reservoirs and equipment. Outside of the pumping station, this provides a permanent personnel of six men-operate who could be used for construction in conjunction with temporary help and would provide for (mentioned previously) one sewer plant operator expending some of his time setting meters with meter man who would not be meters.

"This is exactly the number of employees presently employed but with a definite plan an additional equipment and more adaptation transportation. The only extra personnel requested is the appointment of a water reader on a part time piece work basis. This is a minimum table of organization which I would deem workable and efficient.

"Supply: Nearly all past predictions are off; standards estimating all consumption have been drastically revised since 1945. The Town now has an Industrial Development committee to sell industry the advisability of locating in Andover. Our present supply picture is not appalling. I am not sold on additional surface supply but feel the need of immediate action to increase supply and solve other problems in the West Andover section.

"Our only source of water, Haggetts' pond with a safe yield of 11/3 million gallons per day during a drought period equal to the 1911 drought. Normal yield would be 1,850,000 gallons per day. Summer pumping records present show a daily consumption of over two million per day.

"The town is definitely at a point where additional supply should be found even though such supply is not immediately developed by pumps and pipit, etc.

"I would like to recommend that $4,000 be allocated for exploration work in the 1956 budget relative to determining a water field that could augment our present supply the following year. I do not recommend that Haggetts' pond be raised because of flooding out of houses and the problem of having only one source on which you are dependant.

"One additional subject which I am concerned is the present equipment used in the supply picture. New chlorinating equipment is needed at present. Present pumping is handled by electric motors, one of which to be replaced by a new one shortly. Our stand-by equipment is an old steam turbine which is to run only in emergencies - it should be replaced within the next year with a diesel unit which could be employed for a part of the normal pumping as well.

"Further information will be forthcoming summarizing this report and presenting cost estimates so that acceptable recommendations can be tied in with the 1956 budget."

Court Upholds Appeals Board In Two Cases

Three decisions on disallowances of the appeals board rulings of the appeals board in gravel pit operations here have been handed down by Superior Court Judge Paul G. Kirk.

He upheld the appeals board's ruling against a gravel sand pit off Andover st., requiring William F. Collins and D. Barberian.

A decree also upheld the appeals board's refusal to grant John C. Cyr a permit for a new pit of gravel near the town line.

A third ruling, agreeing with Mr. Cyr's contention that the appeals board's ruling was outside its authority in imposing a restriction on gravel trucks to stop before entering Old County rd. or Rte. 1, near Foster's pond.

The court ruled, however, that the entire decision should be nullified so that the board of appeals may rehear the case. Judge pointed out that the board might not have issued the ruling if it knew the restrictions would be included. He based his findings on the fact that the company could not have covered trucks on a public way.

In the Collins-Barberian case, the judge pointed out that the gravel pit has not been in use a long time and a whole neighborhood has grown up around it. It last was used.

The Cyr request for a new pit off Andover st. was also upheld. The court found the local board was within its authority to hold a permit because of inability to prove that the pit was not a nuisance. The request is in an area zoned for residences.

DEVELOPER OFFERS FIRM'S COOPERATION

some 300 houses in all - "presents social and economic problems. We feel we are as responsible as you are in properly solving them", Atty. Sartorelli stated.

Would Share Cost

He mentioned the possibility that his firm will be willing to discuss mutually sharing the cost of laying additional water mains in the area.

On drainage, a sharp disagreement arose between Irving Birchall, engineer for the firm and Ralph Preble, town engineer. Mr.

Birchall said he could see no drainage problem in the area, which caused Mr. Preble to say:
"We're expecting rain tomorrow.
Are you going to be around?"

Believes Solution Available

Atty. Sartorelli told the meeting throughout the evening that "We are not too excited" about the situation because "We've faced it before". He mentioned similar problems in Lynnfield and Danvers, where the firm is finishing housing construction.

However, Mr. Sartorelli warned the board that "We can't stop cold" in the plans for development here.

He pointed out that nothing will stop development in the towns in a giant circle around Boston - whether his firm does the work or whether it is done by someone else.

Investment

"We have about $200,000 invested here", he reminded the meeting, with some 175 acres of land and plans for a total of 300 houses.

The plan of the construction company is to complete the houses within two years.

Take Under Consideration

Eugene A. Bernard Jr., chairman of the planning board, emphasized early in the meeting that the board would listen to any ideas of the firm and consider them in executive session. He told the firm that the advice of town counsel and town engineer will be valuable, for none of the board is an engineer or lawyer.

Mr. Sartorelli urged the board to consider the firm as part of the board in solving the problems.

He pointed out that only a solution satisfactory to the board and the citizens of the town will be suitable to the firm, as it wants to do what is right for the community.

Offers Water Solution

One concrete proposal made by the firm involved laying some 2200 feet of 12-inch water pipe to complete the circulation around the area proposed for some 66 homes off Westwind rd. Mr. Birchall pointed out that pipe along Elm
st. to the proposed development and connecting to Haverhill st.
would complete the circle and give adequate supply and fire protection.

Plans Take Months

The board was urged to let the company go ahead with plans for the 66-home development before the town's master plan is ready in February.

George Heseltine, son of Mr.
and Mrs. Harold E. Heseltine, 130 Elm st. and George L. Hesrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Henrick of George st. left this morning for Sampson Air Force base.

Both active in Punchard High school, they signed up together for a four-year enlistment. They graduated last June.

Heseltine was a center on the varsity football team and was a member of the track team for two years. He was a member of the Varsity club; was a member of the photography committee for the yearbook and was stage manager for the annual stunt night.

Henrick Vice President

Henrick, vice president of his class, won two letters in football and received a letter for track.
He was a member of the Merrimack Valley All-star team as a guard and was voted Mr. Punchard last June.

They were entertained at a party
last night at the Heseltine home.

Atty. Sartorelli pointed out that planning takes months and the delay until February before attempting to solve the problems would mean a much longer delay before his firm could begin to operate here.

He said it would be better for the firm's representatives and the local boards to confer before putting engineering ideas on paper and then considering them.

The planning board agreed to talk the situation over and let the firm know its decision soon.

Talk On Whole Area

At the outset of the meeting, the board suggested that discussion include the whole area proposed for development by the company with specific mention of the Westwind rd. development for which preliminary plans have been submitted to the board.

"Tell us what you want", Atty.
Sartorelli told them, "and we are willing to cooperate". He urged several times that immediate conferences be held to reach solutions of the problems facing the town and the firm rather than wait until February when the master plan will be ready.

MARRIAGE RETURN

The following marriage return has been filed in the office of the town clerk:

Myron Harley Muise, 65 Park
st. and Ellen Roberta Gilmore, 39 Walnut st., Lowell, married Nov. 6 in St. Peter's church, Lowell, by the Rev. Robert C. Bryson.

METHUEN - PUNCHARD GAME IS FRIDAY

The Andover team, working hard this week, had a rest last weekend when their game with Winthrop was called off because of rain. Methuen played Swampscott, however, and nearly staged an upset over the strong down-county team. Swampscott finally won, 14-13, after a Methuen TD in the late minutes of the final quarter.

Pre-game rallies will take place here tonight, as Punchedard students and rooters work up enthusiasm for tomorrow's game. They plan a parade through the downtown area followed by a rally behind the high school.

The Blue Devils, whose try for a perfect record was spoiled by Reading, have beaten Danvers, 25-6; Stoneham, 25-0 and Lexington, 13-6. Reading beat the home team, 19-14.

BROKEN WATER MAIN CAUSES MANY PROBLEMS

A broken 12-inch water main caused considerable difficulty for residents near the site of the new high school on Shawsheen rd. Monday.

The pipe was broken during excavation by workmen at the new school site. It left homes without water from about 10 a.m. until nightfall. The pipe was repaired by the water department.

Selectmen Say Willing To Hear Insurance Plan

Each of the town's three selectmen have informed the Townsman that the board of selectmen will consider an insurance plan for the town at any time it is presented to them.

Chairman J. Everett Collins declared: "If other things are equal and the plan shows a saving for the town, we would have to accept it." He asked: "What are we there for but to save the town money when we can?"

Both Stafford Lindsay and Sidney White, the other two board members, affirmed their willingness to listen to a plan if it is presented by local insurance men who do not now write any of the town's insurance business.

Statement Last Week

Last week, the board issued a statement which said, in part: "The Selectmen therefore feel that there should be no change in the present arrangement since no better plan for supervising the town's insurance has been proposed, no savings offered. The town has had an opportunity to compare the present properly functioning arrangement with the plans for division now proposed, and has only to turn to past history to realize fully the danger and disadvantages in such a division of responsibility."

Want To Write Policies

Five of the town's six insurance agencies had asked that the town insurance be written by all six agencies rather than the present arrangement whereby the Smart and Flagg agency writes all the insurance and then gives a percentage of the commission to each of the other agents.

The five men had requested an opportunity to inspect the policies held by Town Clerk George Winslow. They were told that the group might see the policies at any time as long as they remained in the town clerk's office. The agents had also suggested to the selectmen that they would return with a plan, based on scrutiny of the policies, probably with an insurance expert from Boston.

As yet, the agents have not met with the selectmen to offer a plan.
